

GERUNDS VS INFINITIVES AT CEFR B2 LEVEL

Are you able to eat three plates of pasta?

Can you imagine working in a mine?

Do you avoid talking to people in a crowd?

Do you expect to be depressed once you retire?

Do you fancy travelling alone?

Do you happen to have OCD?

Do you have/Have you got to report to someone?

Do you mind sharing your flat/house/room with someone?

Do you miss being a kid?

Do you often think: 'I can't wait to be done.'

Do you sometimes appear to be too self-confident?

Do you tend to find excuses?

Does using a smartphone involve being listened to?

Have you ever managed to control a group of kids?

Have you ever taught someone to swim?

Have you ever threatened someone to sue them?

How often do you practise speaking English?

How often do you risk getting a fine?

If you became rich, would you still carry on working?

If your friend was caught shoplifting, would you deny knowing him/her?

True or false: You'd better learn to relax.

True or false: You can't help thinking of your first love.

True or false: You can't stand listening to your mother-in-law.

What would you do to stop having a bad habit?

Would you admit eating the last slice of cake if your wife/mother asked you where the last piece went?

Would you agree to host a family from a war-torn country?

Would you give up eating meat?

Would you keep on learning English after marrying an English girl/boy?

Would you postpone going on holiday for a promotion?

Would you rather live alone or share your home with others?

Would you recommend teaching handwriting to the next generations?

Would you suggest not using a car in the city centre?

Can you ever forget going on your first date?

Could you stop sleeping at night and have an afternoon nap instead?

Do you always mean to apologise when you say 'sorry'?

Do you always remember to answer an IM?

Do you need to do something right now?

Do you regret doing something in your past?

Do you remember going out the first time in your life?

Do you think our society needs changing?

Does being an adult mean quitting all games?

Have you ever forgotten to pay in a bar/restaurant?

Have you ever refused doing something wrong, although you were guilty?

Have you ever tried to live without carbs without any success?

How often do you stop to have a coffee/cigarette during work?

What would you try doing on the long run in order to lose weight?

Would you refuse to pay a bribe if a police offered you to get away from a speeding ticket?

Would you ever regret to move to another country right now?

Tell me three things you used to do.

Tell me three things you didn't use to do.

Tell me three things you could never get used to doing?

Tell me three things you are finally used to having.